WINTER (in the past and today)

In the past, it started to snow in November and there was a lot of snow everywhere. People had to have spades inside their houses because they could not get out of the house because of the snow. Winters were white and beautiful. Children were playing in the snow, they were building snowmen, skiing, sledging or throwing snowballs at each other all day long.

Nowadays, because of global warming, winters are not very cold. It rains a lot and the snow is only in the mountains.
